Mystery As To Sum Asked In Ransom Note Said To Have Been Found

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., March 2. Tempo of the search for 12 year old Peter Levine quickened today and although all offic al sources were silent, it appeared either that there had been a break in the case or that one was soon expected.

It could be sensed in the business-like early arrival of G-men at the Levine house, the promptness with which the door was opened for them and the sudden half-scream, half-sob of a woman as the door closed.

VERMONT MAN GIVES HIS VIEWS

WASHINGTON, March 2.-Full responsibility for the business depression was charged to the Roosevelt administration by Ralph E. Handers of Springfield, Vt., a member of the Commerce Department's business advisory council, in testifying today before the special Senate committee investigating unemployment and relief.

The government's attitude of "trying to 'get' somebody or some group" has spread fear among investo's and business today hes "helple's before the government". Flanders Said.

While giving these as his personal views. Flanders presented a report of the business advisor: council, concluding: "The maxillingness to spend and the fetr to invest is a very wide-spread phenomenon held by hundieds of thousands of individuals, rather than being a result of the fears of malevolence of a small financial group."

While the low interest rate policy emphasized by the government is wise, beneficial effects of "easy money" have been offset by "hobbirs" placed on business by the administration. Flanders said.

"Up until a year ago it was my back spending and investing was to be laid about equally at the door of are of responsibility must be laid to give the Nazi salute, at the door of government for the state of mind which induces us to GRETA GARBO AND hold onto our money.

less we would like to hear from them . . . some of the class would like to have a little get-together . . . so if you please write in, maybe something can be arranged.

Sometime ago we stated that an art show would be held here in New Castle . . . we are very sorry to announce that for the time being this event will not be held . . . complications have arisen and it seems impossible to carry out plans at this time... we hope however to bring this dream to reality within the coming Remember last spring when the Music Council presented the May

Day Festival . . . well they are planning another gala event to be held sometime in May . . . the May Queen will be chosen in the very near future and this year's program will be one hundred per cent greater than last year because they have more time to work on the preparation . . . last year it was a little over two weeks

... they need instruments and music badly ... if you have any suggestions for this program will you kindly mail them to this

To the members of the Music Appreciation Organization . . . if you have any suggestions as to the type of artist you would prefer in next year's course, will you kindly mail them to Dr. Henderson or

Wait for Jailed Mothers

Pictured in the nursery of New Jersey's state prison for women at Clinton, N. J., is this group of happy and well-fed children, who posed readily for the cameraman. In the last eight months more than fifty-six were born to convict mothers in the prison's maternity ward. Children of women serving short terms are cared for in the nursery. After the tots are two years old they are either given into the care of relatives, or sent to orphanages.

Peach Yellows Infection Wanes

HARRISBURG, March 2—Peach Yellows disease was less prevalent in the peach orchards of Pennsylvania inspected in 1937 than in 1936. the State Bureau of Plant Industry reported today at the close of its unual inspection.

Only 415 infected trees were found amore 393.682 inspected in sixteen counties. The 1937 infection was slightly under that of 1936 and far below the average for the last seventeen years.

"yellows trees" found are marked by the inspector and removed and destroyed later by the grower. This is the only known control for the disease. This method continued annually since 1921 has reduced infection in Pennsylvania from approximately 5 percent to less than one tenth of one percent.
